Football Probabilities: Week 7 NFL Sneak Peek And Selections

It is Week 7 in NFL prospects in the NFL with some excellent bouts on the board. 2 of the best teams in the NFL, the Pittsburgh steelers and Patriots are on the road, but only one of them is preferred in Football gambling probabilities. Let's take a look at Week 7 in the NFL at the sportsbook.

Pittsburgh at Miami – The Pittsburgh steelers are laying 3 points in this match with the total at 40.5. The Dolphins are a very excellent team but winning versus the Pittsburgh steelers won't be easy. The Under may very well be the top wager in this game.

Bengals at Atlanta – The Falcons are setting just three at home versus the dysfunctional Cincinnati Bengals. You have to like Atlanta. The Falcons are doing reasonably well this year.

Jaguars at Kansas city – The position of Jacksonville quarterback David Garrard was up in the air but it's hard to like the Jaguars anyway.

Eagles at Tennessee – The Titans are three-point faves in what may very well be among the best games of the week.

Redskins at Bears – The Bears are three-point home faves at the sports book and the total is 40. With these 2 offenses, a low scoring match is in the cards.

Cleveland at New Orleans – The New Orleans saints are laying 13 points at home against the Browns. The world will be on the New Orleans saints so as hard as it's to say this, you may want to take a prospect with the Browns plus the points. There's lots of strain on the Saints this year and it is wearing on the squad a little.

Buffalo at Baltimore – This is an identical competition to the previous one as Baltimore is preferred by 13 at home in Football betting probabilities against Buffalo. No one will almost certainly take the Bills so needless to say they will cover.

San Francisco at Carolina – The San Francisco 49ers are getting 2.5 on the road at Carolina. This is the ugly match of the week.

St Louis at Tampa Bay – This competition could actually be pretty good and it could be high scoring. Take the over.

Arizona at Seattle – One of these two teams is likely to be 4-2 when this is over. It only could be the Arizona

Cardinals.

New England at San Diego – The Patriots are getting three points on the road at San Diego. It's a challenging location for the Patriots so a bet on the match going over appears greater.

Oakland at Denver – Unless Bruce Gradkowski competes this is a competition where you need to take the Broncos.

Minnesota at Green Bay – Favre back in Green Bay again. The Green Bay Packers are laying three points at home and that could be too several. Favre is looking sort of weak and old these days, but he is competing with Randy Moss and they make a great team.

NY Giants at Dallas – The 1-4 Cowboys are laying three points at home in NFL lines which makes no sense, so needless to say Dallas will win. The squad has had a pretty dismal year so far.
