NFL betting regard has fallen dramatically for the Denver broncos as they're now on the list of worst and least appealing teams in NFL gambling. NFL NFL betting odds makers respect the improvements made by the Oakland raiders although they are still a very inconsistent Football sports betting commodity.

The Raiders will host the Denver broncos on Sunday with a telecast on CBS set to start at 4:20 PM ET. The internet sportsbook opened with Oakland as a 6.5 point favorite and with a total of 44. Oakland embarrassed the Denver Broncos at Denver 59-14 on October 24 which notable the start of the end for now departed Denver head coach Josh McDaniels.

The Denver Broncos have been awful lately in Football football wagering so you are able to anticipate the Raiders to get the bulk of the competition at SBG and the total is also worth thinking about. Earlier this season you might make a case for Denver as qb Kyle Orton was competing well. That is not the case any longer. Orton looks scared and it ought to furthermore be observed he's terrible in poor weather.

Oakland is 6-7 straight up and 7-6 with the NFL gambling odds and has risen over the total in 8 games. The Raiders have lost 3 of their last 4 games and are coming off a 38-31 loss at Jacksonville. Oakland is two games behind Kansas City in the AFC West Division. The Oakland Raiders rank 10th in scoring offense and 14th for total defense and have shown much improved play over a year ago.

The Raiders are gaining great output from running backs Darren McFadden and Michael Bush. They ought to have a field day vs a poor Denver defense.

Qb has been the huge question mark but Jason Campbell is showing growth as the starter and has climbed to 84.4 on his Quarterback rating with a 10/6 TD/INT percentage. Darren McFadden has 993 yards rushing and a good 5.2 yards per try with 7 touchdowns.

The Broncos have become among the biggest losers in NFL as they have a record of 3-10 straight up and 4-9 with the NFL wagering prospects with 9 of their games going over the total. In their first game since firing McDaniels the Broncos were blown out at Arizona in a 43-13 loss. Denver's defense ranks dead last for points allowed whilst the offense ranks 19th in scoring and only 29th for rushing.

The absence of a running game and weak defense has put each of the pressure on qb Kyle Orton who has slid to an 876.5 rating as supporters are screaming for rookie Tim Tebow to get the starting gig the remainder of the way. Denver will happen the chain as the last place team in the AFC West.

Oakland has gotten the cash in 7 of their past 9 Football NFL gambling competitions with Denver and the series has gone over the total in 5 of the previous seven meetings between the clubs. A parlay with Oakland and under appears like a good play in NFL NFL betting on Sunday.
