Formula1 Lotto System - Is It A Scam?

Hi Andy here yet again, on this occasion with a review of Formula1 Lotto System. In this report I am going to respond to those burning queries for anybody interested in this product, namely:

- What does Formula1 Lotto System do?
- Is it a rip-off?
- Is it seriously worth getting hold of?
- Can I obtain a bonus for buying this product? (and just what is a bonus?)
- Can I get my money back if I don't like it?

That's a lot to make it through, how about we get moving straight away.

What is Formula1 Lotto System all about?

Okay, why don't we hear from the horse's mouth on this one and take a look at what they say in relation to themselves on the website:

You can buy a fancy new car. Yes.... that car we both know that you longed for it ... for so much time. You can purchase your dream new house... or at least have a huge deposit to put on one. You can take a trip around the world to visit every single beautiful country... (Hmmm... maybe except North Korea...) You can finally go to the one you really love... and buy something special so you will create a dazzling impression... You can send your kids to the greatest college in the country (or put just little money aside for that, in case you don't have kids yet. Recommended.) You can buy a cool yacht to live a life full of luxury... You can help your parents to get everything they've always desired... And most importantly... you can FINALLY start to live the life you deserve and you've always wanted... The options are up to you... You will have all the freedom to do whatever you want, when you want and how you want....

Could it be a scam?

For products of this kind, there's one simple guaranteed way to find this out: the product's refund rate. Products with a high refund rate can be a scam. This, of course, makes a lot of sense - if it's a scam, then lots of people will be requesting a refund. Regarding Formula1 Lotto System the approximate refund rate is 0.18%, which is shockingly low, and suggests this product is certainly not a scam.

Is it worth purchasing?

There are many verifiable testimonials from happy customers on Formula1 Lotto System's website. Reading these testimonials is often a good way of evaluating if the product meets your needs. Needless to say, that shouldn't be your sole research. The owner of a product can put anything at all on their site - you should back-up their promises with an unbiased external review. See the website link at the end of this report for one such review, which gives the product a rating of 4.49/5. This is high and suggests the product is definitely worth buying.

Are there any bonuses available? (and just what is a bonus?)

Certain sites have taken to offering what's known as the 'purchase bonus'. It's a bit like a free softdrink when you get a burger - a thank you for buying by means of their link. For Formula1 Lotto System there's a bonus being offered that is an e-book describing ways to get access to countless hidden bonuses - all you need is a clever (and secret) Google search to find them. (See web page link at the bottom of the page)

Can I have a refund if I don't like it?

You can! The product is covered by a 60-day no quibble money back guarantee with the payment processor (Clickbank). Consequently you can get yourself a refund without needing to go to the product owners - you are able to simply do it by means of Clickbank.

What do I do now?

I've been through all the principal questions that potential buyers have when considering this product . Before making that ultimate purchasing decision, It is best to check out the complete review sheet (see link below). There you'll find out if you can find any extra complimentary products, any discounts and any bonuses offered by the Formula1 Lotto System team. You can additionally find information on the purchase bonus mentioned previously.
