

Published based on NFL Probabilities – Week 7 Goes To The Long Shots Again

NFL Probabilities – Week 7 Goes To The Long Shots Again

Week 7 in NFL probabilities went to the long shots again. The big favorites did not do well and the New Orleans saints were the greatest disappointment as they lost outright at home to the Cleveland Browns. However the Saints were not the sole huge fave to fail versus the football bets odds in Week 7.

The Saints were laying 12 points to Cleveland at the online betting sports book while the Ravens were setting 12 points at home to the Buffalo Bills. The Ravens didn't cover either but at a minimum they did win the game in ot. The Browns and Bills aren't popular squad with gamblers nevertheless they both came through in Week 7 as big long shots.

Another Huge Dog - Oakland Raiders - The Oakland raiders were receiving a td at Denver and they crushed the Broncos by a score of 59-14. The Raiders were furthermore not a well-liked pick this week however they totally controlled the Denver Broncos from start to finish and it was on the road in Denver. There is really no way to overstate how weak the Denver Broncos were. Kyle Orton was kept down to a year decreased 198 yards, two tds and an interception. Head coach Josh McDaniels found himself saying sorry to practically everybody for the performance. Some folks are calling it the worst performance in team history.

Small Dogs - It wasn't only the big underdogs that covered in Week 7 either. A variety of other competitions were tight with the longshots delivering. The Patriots were gaining points at San Diego and they won outright. The Panthers were a one point longshot versus San Francisco and they won outright 23-20. The Dolphins and St Louis Rams did not win their competitions straight up but both came through for gamblers. The Dolphins lost by just one a home to Pittsburgh gaining 3 points in Football betting lines whereas St. Louis lost by only one at Buccanneers getting a field goal. Washington was getting three points at Chicago and they were able to win the game outright in an unpleasant turnover mess 17-14.

A Couple of Faves Cover - There have been a couple of favorites that did come through in Week 7. Kansas City struggled early with Jacksonville but pulled away in the second half to win 42-20. The Falcons played better than the Cincinnati Bengals by a score of 39-32. Tennessee blew away the Eagles as three-point home faves and Seattle managed to hold off Arizona and get the 12 point win as a touchdown favorite in Football prospects.

You can also find this article published on NFL Probabilities – Week 7 Goes To The Long Shots Again, and on the tag pages Browns, football bets odds, home, new orleans saints, st louis rams, Week.