Do Not Take The Dog On Holiday

it would seem that a lot of people out there think that taking pets on vacation with them is a great idea, and although there are some benefits to it I think you really are just better off leaving them at home with someone who can look after them. Here are the reasons why.

where are you going to put them?

if you are taking your pets on vacation with you then they need space and freedom to run around, what is the point otherwise. If you are going to somewhere where you are going to be at the beach most of the day then what is the point in taking them in the first place. They are going to be getting very lonely which means you are better off leaving them at home with someone you trust.

more food to get

just think of all of the extra money you are going to have to find for food for the animal if you are taking the pet with you, it will cost so much more.

Florida

Although places like Disney World in Florida have places you can keep your pets (see things like a Florida Guide for more information on this) it would seem that this is going to cost you a lot of extra money which all seems a bit pointless in the end. Waiting in long line for something like Harry Potter and the Forbidden Journey in the Wizarding World Of Harry Potter is nightmare when thinking about the pet in the kennel. the one reason where something like this could be useful is if you are travelling within your own country, if not it would seem it is just too much hassle. All in all I think it is best if you simply kept the pet at home, it is going to be a lot cheaper. Besides, how is a dog going to help with Disney Animal Kingdom Guide?
