Your life is rather boring, you need to make it brighter and find something that will bring pleasant moments and impressions into your life. You always watch snowboarding on television but have never tried it yourself... and now you make a decision to try it and devote some part of yourself to this extreme kind of sport. You understand that it's not so easy to become skilled snowboarder, but you are rather young and in good shape, so you don't afraid to start something new. Of course it's rather dangerous kind of sport, but driving a car is also rather dangerous, but we still drive...So, what do you need to start your trainings? Of course you need professional instructor and necessary equipment! Hope you have good financial situation, because this sport is not for poor people...it needs big expenses.

To choose the right snowboard you should take into account your physical parameters, style of riding and your experience. Among physical parameters of rider the most important is weight. As a rule, for every kind of snowboard producers point out recommended weight range. As heavier a snowboarder as longer snowboard is good for him. Another important parameter is height of rider. Experienced snowboarders advise to choose snowboard if it's height is from the floor till your chin or tip of your nose. And finally you should take into account size of your foot. Size of boots for snowboarding is the same with ordinary boots, but it's very important to take boots which will fit you tightly. When you choose your snowboard, you should also pay attention at the width of it, borders of your boots could be wider about one or two centimetres of your board.

When you are going to buy necessary gear for snowboarding, it's better not to save money at your health and take gear of well-known brands and good quality. Your gear should be comfortable and waterproof; seams should be in good condition. It's better to take more expensive gear because it will much better protect you from injuries and will serve you for a long time if you take good care of it. One of the most important parts of your gear are goggles. They also should be of nice quality and protect your eyes of bright light and snow during your riding on high speed. Your gear should be not only comfortable, but also protective. Special protective snowboarding jacket should have flexible insets to protect your back, shoulders, forearms and elbows. It's also possible to buy special jacket with additional protection for your neck.
