When two men get together for a bear chances are high that they will speak about sport, no matter which one exactly. This indisputably demonstrates the tendency of sport development. Besides, it proves that the sport and the population are two links that are closely connected with each other. To make the long story short, I would like to focus your attention a little bit on the Olympic Games and to discuss the Jamaican athletes. One of the most famous and strongest athletes from this country is Usain Bolt, 2008 Summer Olympics gold medallist. Bolt won people's respect thanks to his victories and awards. When people observe him running, they get like crazy about him. If you think that this kind of sport is the only one developed in the island, then you are definitely wrong, as there are many others that the Jamaicans go in for.

The first to mention is the cricket. This game became popular during the times of English rule in the island. But this historical fact does not affect the desires of the citizens. Their likes and dislikes. Amazingly, people organised different matches all over Jamaica, as well as in one of the Caribbean's cricket stadiums, 10,000-seat Sabina Park stadium. In case you decide to spend your vacation week on this island, there is a possibility that you will visit such match, as it is very popular among all tourists. Perhaps, afterwards you would like to try cricket yourself and to have a class with a trainer. This sport is so popular there that even the senior children are good at it.

However, the majority of the tourists associate the Jamaican island with the less frequent of sports in our territory: bobsledding. No one will forget the 1988 Winter Olympics in Calgary, where the Jamaicans were just beyond competition. They seemed to be the best of the best. Even though the races itself were not of that good quality, but many amateurs were present there in order to observe the Jamaicans. Besides, Jamaica is a very popular place for the honeymoon, as the impressions can be just unforgettable and the brought images a nice reason for the next holiday. Unfortunately, 1988 Games were the worst for their fans, as Jamaicans finished only 14th in the four-man sled and they were 10th in the two-man sled. Their fans were shocked, as they did not expect such upshot. Many of them left races crying. However, the greatest part of the whole world estimates their competition due to the old stereotype: the Jamaicans were and are the best of the best. Many still believe that it would be one more match were those who suffered fiasco would show the unforgettable competitive game.
