

Published based on My Job As A Temp Greenkeeper

My Job As A Temp Greenkeeper

I have already had many jobs in my life and I have to say that this one (a temporary greenkeeper) was a very interesting one indeed, there was plenty to do all of the time. I have to say that when I turned up for work I was pretty shocked when I was told about the amount of work it takes for a golf course to look great.

The hardest part for working at this course for me was getting up at 4 in the morning and starting work at 5, after this it was okay. The great thing about doing this is that you finish at around 12.30 so you have most of the day spare to do pretty much what you want.

One of the main jobs that I was given is to rake all of the bunkers, this is not as bad as many people assume it is. The raking of over 150 bunkers is a pretty big task and it takes all morning for two people to do it, you do get to meet a few people. You are able to get to know the course a lot more and you kind of have respect for it more than anything.

The people you meet are of course golfers and they usually compliment the course which is great for self esteem when you are working on it all of the time. Once the morning was done we would all head back into the room and have lunch on the house. The choices were from anything on the menu and usually I would simply choose the full English breakfast as it was really filling.

Golf course working is actually quite a laugh and is very rewarding too.

So charge up those golf batteries and those UPS batteries and start playing golf. Mobility scooter batteries can be used for this purpose too.

You can also find this article published on My Job As A Temp Greenkeeper, and on the tag pages course, full english breakfast, Job, mobility scooter batteries, ups batteries, work.