

Published based on What Are The Best Mexican Dishes Out There?

What Are The Best Mexican Dishes Out There?

Mexican food is certainly one of my personal favourites in the world, I am yet to try one of them that I do not like as of yet. I learnt how to make many dishes when out on my Mexico holidays and here is what I would serve up at a dinner party if I was doing a Mexican theme.

Chilaquiles

These are pretty much nachos but the American cheese and beans are taken away and you have nice toasted tortillas covered in either green or red salsa (I have seen a mix of the two) with shredded chicken and sour cream. This really is a fantastic starter for a Mexican meal.

Nachos

For the people that like their less traditional nachos I would serve up the Tex-Mex variety. This one really is superb and it consists of beef, sour cream, beans, salsa and the lovely guacamole. I tend to make these as spicy as I can to try and add that Mexican element to it.

Fajitas

Although these are not really traditional Mexican foods I do know that they make a great main course so this would be my choice. The great thing about these is that you can put whatever you want into the tortilla wrap, chicken, steak, prawns, whatever you like!. The best thing to mix in with the meats are mixed peppers and onions along with your sour cream and guacamole.

You cannot have a Mexican night without a Mexican dessert and for me this would be a very tasty orange flavoured fried bananas.

Vacation

If you have never been on one of those holidays to Mexico then I really would recommend that you go and this is simply because it is a stunning place with lots of amazing dishes to try and bring home with you. Failing this why not try one of those Dubai holidays?

You can also find this article published on What Are The Best Mexican Dishes Out There?, and on the tag pages chicken, food, Mexican, mexican dessert, mexico holidays, tortilla wrap.